

Providing healthy and affordable food for all campus residents

On the first floor of the Faculty of Mechanical Engineering at Bialystok University of Technology, a new place has been created where students and employees can eat healthily, relax between classes or meet with friends. The bar is equipped with an air recuperation system, and its heating comes from the heat used in the kitchen. The oils used in the cooking process are recycled, which contributes to saving money and caring for the environment. In addition, the bar has a green area where you can dine outdoors in the summer in comfort.
